REPORTS OF GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of purity, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substances."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. The Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public."

"The Royal Baking Powder is pure in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1874; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists and Boards of Health all over the world.

Note.—The above diagram illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Scheller. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Scheller only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, besides affording the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair minded person of these facts.

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a comparatively high degree of strength, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

OKLAHOMA'S BOOM

A General Sketch of the Proposed Territory.

GOOD LAND FOR 150,000 FARMS.

Historical Introduction.—Hardships of the Boomers.—Wild Life in Pursuit.—The Great Cattle Syndicates.—Great Contrasts
in the Land.—Some Extremely Fertile.
A Few Barren Ridges.

The New York Sun has done the country
a service by sending one of its best men to Oklahoma, who gave the actual facts about the history and present condition of that disputed strip. The following is a condensed version of the Sun's account. The history of Oklahoma need only be glanced at—it is not a pleasant story by any means—but the state-ing condition is worthy careful attention.

MAP OF OKLAHOMA.

The original Oklahoma which the people have heard so much of is only a small part of the future territory of Oklahoma. It contains only 1,887,800 acres of land, while the entire territory of Oklahoma contains 2,000,000 acres. To show where the original Oklahoma lies, as well as the bounds of the new territory, a map is presented. It is really a map of the Indian territory and includes the whole of Oklahoma proper, as the boomers call it, lies very near the center of the territory. The new territory will embrace the western half of the Indian territory and include the whole of the original Oklahoma. It will have an area of 3,672,000 acres, as well.
A glance at the map, as printed, will give a good idea of the location of the new territory.
Of which are shown in the map. Since Oklahoma is held by Indians whose title is beyond dispute, and because another part is held by the Indians, although claimed by white Americans as public land, with a clear title vested in the United States, an abstract of title of these lands ought to be made in order that the reader may judge of the case.

The land about which there is an Indian dispute is the tract called Oklahoma proper,
together with the Cherokee Outlet, the bounds
of which are shown in the map. Since Oklahoma proper was the part over which the dispute first arose it may first be told.
Having been a part of the Louisiana purchase the title to the land was unquestionably vested after the purchase in the United States,
and so remained until the United States relinquished its title. By the act of Congress of May 28, 1850, the United States began to relinquish its title.

Nobody doubts that the land at that time belonged to the property of the Creek tribe, and it so remained without dispute until Aug. 7, 1850. On this day a treaty was concluded with the Creeks by which they conveyed these lands (including, of course, Oklahoma proper) to the Seminoles, provided, however,
that the same should not be sold or otherwise disposed of without the consent of both tribes legally given. Thereafter the land
may be said to have been held in partnership
by both tribes. It so remained undisputed until 1850.

The reason for the treaty made in 1850 is unimportant. The motive behind the treaty of 1850 are interesting. The treaties were made during the booming days just after the war.

On March 21, 1850, the Seminoles made a treaty, in the third article of which is the following language:

"In compliance with a desire of the United States to locate other Indians and freedmen
on the territory ceded and conveyed to the United States their entire domain."

Their entire domain included, of course,
what is now called Oklahoma proper, besides
a lot more to the east thereof.

The statement that the treaty was made in compliance with the desire of the United States to locate other Indians and freedmen
on the territory ceded was a deliberate lie.
It was a deliberate attempt to obtain property by false pretenses. Within four months after the conclusion of the purchase by the United States—that is, on July 25—a bill was literally introduced through Congress by which the Atlantic and Pacific railroad was granted a right of way through the land so purchased, and every odd numbered section of land for forty miles on each side of the railroad was given to the company. The lands were bought that they might line be given to the railroad. There is no doubt that could all the facts pertinent to the case be brought out in a court of justice the title in the Oklahoma proper would revert to the Creeks and Seminoles on the ground of fraud

and misrepresentation in the transfer, but no
such case will ever be heard in court.

As to the law in the case it reads, Judge
Parker, in passing on the matter, says:

"To my mind this language used in the third article of the Seminole treaty amounts to a conveyance of the land of the land described to the United States."

This color of title in the United States,
however, did not open the land to settlement;
a formal proclamation by the president and land office was necessary to do that. Hence the anomaly that it was surveyed and open for a railroad title to attach, and not for settlers. The Atlantic and Pacific railroad, however, failed to complete its line in time, and in 1850 the so-called "boomers" began their raids.

THE OKLAHOMA BOOMERS.

Payne, Couch, Hill and Their Adventurous Followers.

The original boomer was Capt. David L.
Payne, originally of Indiana and later of Kansas; and the raiding began in April, 1880.
As the map shows, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad now has a line running south through Oklahoma, and the boomers
interested in having the region settled.
Whether there is any connection between this and the numerous booms, each reader
must decide for himself, but the Indians
vehemently charge that the raid instigated the Payne and subsequent movements. The cattle men, however, of the Indians, of course
except the latter's view, and in the expedient of the Indians. The Indians continued from 1880 till 1885, when the Santa Fe road
got its right of way across the territory.
When they suddenly ceased about the wagon
road, the boomers' claims of the boomers
legal verbiage the claims of the boomers
were as follows:

"The land in question had been purchased with cash. Therefore the title was vested in the government. Therefore the Indian title had been extinguished. Therefore the lands were government lands. Therefore they were open to settlement, boomers, according to the revised statutes, section 2257, all lands belonging to the United States to which the Indian title has been or may hereafter be extinguished shall be subject to the right of pre-emption."

It is a significant fact that though the leading boomers were often arrested, they were often released without trial. It would seem that the other parties did not want the matter tested by law. The fate of Capt. Payne was sad and mysterious. At the Hotel Bernard, in Wellington, Kan., on the morning of Nov. 28, 1884, he came down to breakfast in his usual health, and when the waiter came to take his order he asked for a glass of milk. The milk was brought from the kitchen, and Payne drank it. Then, while sitting at the table, he suddenly dropped. As he placed the glass on the table
he suddenly started up as if seized with a spasm, and, grasping the cream pitcher, he hastily drank it. Then, while sitting at the table, he suddenly dropped. As he placed the Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

THEO. E. BARTLEY, Business Manager.
TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1889.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

B. F. Wood and Dr. J. R. Paine, of Pembroke, were in the city yesterday.

Robt. Cook returned to Huntington, W. Va., Sunday after a visit to his father.

Mrs. M. E. Rodgers has returned from the Eastern cities where she laid in a handsome stock of Millinery goods.

Judge R. T. Petree, of Hopkinsville, was in attendance upon County Court last Monday, an attorney in the Joe L. Ford will case—Telephone.

S. Walton Forgy, a prominent young attorney of Hopkinsville, was visiting his sister, Mrs. Hutchings, on Clarksville street, Sunday and Monday. It is rumored that he has a continued case in court here—Eikon Progress.

The young men of Eikon have not been so stirred up since Christmas as they were by the arrival of Judge Petree's accomplished niece, Miss Cora Petree, of Hopkinsville. Miss Cora makes but a short stay in town this time but all who have been so fortunate as to make her acquaintance hope that she will soon return and make us a longer visit—Eikon Progress.

Mr. G. O. Thompson, Ex-Mayor, of Hopkinsville, visited Cadiz last Monday, the first time he had been here for thirty years. Mr. Thompson began business in Cadiz when quite a young man. He says that so great have been the changes that he would not have recognized the town. Mr. Thompson, though over seventy years of age, is one of the most active and enterprising men of Hopkinsville, and he now has more energy and vim than half the men of thirty. He has accumulated a competency, but is still one of the active business men of Hopkinsville—Telephone.

CREAM OF NEWS.

Important to Farmers.

We call attention to the new and extensive advertisement of Forbes & Bro., in this issue; it will pay you to read their advertisement and call and see their line of goods before you buy. They have the largest and best selected stock of buggies and harness. No person in the city has anything to equal it. Their lines of wagons, binders, mowers, threshers and engines are complete and can be relied on as being the best on the market. They have three immense warehouses full of goods and they intend to sell them at the lowest possible figures, also lumber, shingles and shingles or anything in the line of building material or hardware you can get at the lowest market price; their stock is large and complete.

Hail Storm Friday.

Friday was a windy and exceedingly disagreeable day. There were occasional showers but no rain of much consequence. Shortly after dinner a shower fell in the city with a strong wind blowing and a few flakes of snow. Further south the rain was accompanied by hail. At Church Hill the hail was quite severe and at Benacton and Beverly the stones were so large that much damage would have been done if the crops had been advanced enough to be injured. It was attended with no bad results however, so far as we have been able to learn.

The New Asylum Steward.

Mr. Joseph C. Buckner will on next Saturday succeed Mr. Frank L. Waller as steward of the Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum. Mr. Buckner is a son of Mr. S. G. Buckner and is a young man of fine character and good business qualifications. He will move his family, consisting of wife and one child, to the Steward's cottage on the Asylum premises and Mr. Waller will occupy the Robt. Mills place on Seventh street, which he has rented.

Ups and Downs of Life.

Rev. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, has consented to deliver a lecture on the "Ups and Downs of Life" at the Baptist church on May 17th, for the benefit of the Ladies Mission Society of the church. This is a fine lecture, abounding in humor, and is sure to be largely attended.

Entitled to the Best.

All are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have, at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when constipated or bilious. For sale in 50 cents and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

Fritz's old stand.

The "Pigs in Clover" puzzle has reached Hopkinsville.

Go to A. G. Bush for boots and shoes and save money.

Wiley & Parker want 20,000 lbs. wool. Farmers see them before selling.

Read the call for a Democratic mass convention at the Court house April 27th.

Ladies, if you want to see the latest in spring millinery, call on Mrs. Carrie Hart.

The rain of the first of the week was badly needed. Vegetation will now grow rapidly.

There are thirty-two fire insurance companies represented by the Hopkinsville agencies.

A new line of pattern hats and bonnets received ready for Easter, at Mrs. Carrie Hart's.

L. L. Buckner is prepared to break young horses, and also train horses for the turf, on his track.

L. Barnes, of Providence, has rented the Subee Hotel for this season and has taken charge of it.

All the ladies admire the new millinery to be found at Mrs. Hart's, and they are surprised at the low prices.

There was hardly a day last week that some fishing party did not leave the city in high spirits. As a rule they returned empty handed.

J. Clay Johnson, the forger, in jail at Clarksville, attempted suicide with morphine last week. The drug had been given him for neuralgia.

Farbes & Bro. have just finished for the Hopkinsville Coal and Coke Co., a new and improved truck wagon, the only one of the kind in the city.

The Baptist church will have a hard task to fill the place of the retiring pastor, Rev. J. N. Prestridge. In many respects his place cannot be filled.

On our first page to-day will be found a striking and instructive illustration of the comparative worth of the various kinds of baking powders now in the market.

Mr. Frank B. Richardson, of Pembroke, is to-day announced as a Democratic candidate for the Legislature, election August next. So far he is the only announced candidate of either party.

As usual, Miss Alice Hays' selection of Millinery Goods is of the latest styles. She has just opened her stock and the ladies are invited to call and examine. A more choice selection cannot be found anywhere.

The trial of Champ Gist for killing Sam Winstad at N-bo several years ago was set for yesterday in the Hopkins Circuit Court. There have been one or two mistrials and the case has come to be a "chestnut" on the docket.

Mr. J. B. Pollard, the life insurance agent, is now at Dixon. Mr. Pollard is quite well known throughout our county, and has made many warm friends since he has been circulating among our people.—Webster Sentinel.

J. Lieber, proprietor of the shaving parlor over Hooser & Ballard's, has engaged Mike Patton, an experienced artist from Delaware, Ohio, who can now be found assisting him. He will be pleased to have those needing work in his line call upon him. His card appears in another column of to-day's issue.

The County Court of Claims met yesterday for the consideration of important matters of business. It will be in session for several days. There are no questions this time calling for any very great amount of logging outside or oratory inside, as was the case last October. Only routine business will be transacted. One question will be to decide whether the bond surplus shall be loaned out, or used to temporarily stop county taxes.

The lecture of Dr. Willis last Thursday evening was attended by a rather small crowd considering the extraordinary efforts that had been made to fill the Opera House. The subject of "Moonshine" proper was briefly touched upon in the beginning, but the lecturer devoted himself chiefly to picturing the bright side of life, throwing in an anecdote now and then to add spice to the address, which occupied an hour and a quarter. It was entertaining and instructive throughout and deserved a larger hearing.

Milton Nobles' powerful new drama, "From Sire to Son," is drawing large and fashionable audiences at the Grand Opera House. The play is most skillfully constructed, and the interest is maintained to the end. Mr. Nobles does some superb acting when temporarily stricken with speechlessness in the first act, and wins a spontaneous curtain call nightly by his splendid work at the end of the second act, when he recovers the power of speech. The company is an unusually strong one, and the stage settings rich and appropriate. Dollie Nobles' sympathetic acting in the dual role of mother and daughter is one of the most interesting features in an altogether excellent performance. "From Sire to Son" has promptly taken its position among the very best productions of native dramatists.—New York World.

Increase the appetite by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They cause the stomach, liver and bowels to perform their functions properly, do not debilitate, by excessive stimulation, and are not irritating to the system. As an after-dinner Pill they are unequalled.

A gentleman who shovels news for this great disseminator of knowledge hid himself to the river banks Saturday and extracted from the limpid depths of their liquid home a large representation of the funny tribe. The particular locality of his exploits was about six miles south of town and his success was largely due to the friendly guidance of Col. Wm. Rives, who knows every good fishing place in Little River. Several other gentlemen were also along who had some success and who contributed to the day's enjoyment by bringing with them baskets well-filled with bait—for the fishermen not the fishes. The work of removing the fine-sized silver perch from their native element was only stopped by the minnows giving out in the afternoon and the scribe returned home well satisfied with the day's sport.

Read what the Frankel Bros. have to say in their advertisement to-day and you may profit thereby. The Shelburne pony which they recently purchased has been placed on exhibition in one of their show windows and can be seen by all who pass their store. The pony, harness and cart will be given away on the 4th of July next, the day of their drawing.

See for yourself what the Lipstine has to say in his "ad" which makes its appearance in this issue. His store is full of fine dry goods, notions, gents' furnishing goods, etc., and his stock will be kept full and complete, always. Do not fail to give him a call when in the city and have him price you through his stock.

We call attention to this issue to an advertisement of the Bryant & Stratton Business College, Louisville, Ky. This celebrated school for young men desiring to fit themselves for business, is now enjoying a most prosperous season. See "ad" elsewhere for further particulars.

Geo. M. Hodgen, Eugene Hodgen and C. M. Dodson, representing Pomona Hill Nurseries, Pomona, N. C., have been canvassing this county for fall delivery. They will go from here to Cadiz in a few days.

Mr. G. T. Blakey and family, of Logan county, have moved to Hopkinsville to make their home here. The Kentuckian is always glad to welcome such additions to our population.

New postmasters near by: R. W. Williams, Morton's Gap; M. E. Taliaferro, Nortonville; D. Q. Boston, Slaughter'sville.

Rev. Steve Holcombe closed his ten days' engagement at the Methodist Church Sunday night and left yesterday.

A wreck on the road beyond Bowling Green delayed the mails several hours Friday.

Prof. Wm. H. Thompson, M. D. University of New York, New York city, says: "More adults are carried off in this country by chronic kidney disease than by any other one malady except consumption." This shows that Dr. Thompson considers kidney disease a frightful malady. He also says "Bright's disease has no symptoms of its own, but has the symptoms of every other disease." The reason why Warner's Safe Cure cures so many different diseases is that by curing symptoms, which are called diseases, it strikes at the roots of disease itself.

The Pullman Vestibule Limited Trains, which the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company will commence running between Cincinnati, Louisville and eastern cities in May, will be lighted by electricity and heated by steam. These trains are said to be as handsome as any that have ever been constructed. The Pullman Company has built new sleeping-cars of the latest and handsomest pattern for these trains. One of the vestibule cars will be detached from the train at Charlottesville and run through to Old Point; others will come from Louisville. Four dining services on this train, cost about $16,000 each.

MATRIMONIAL.

Mr. J. E. Payne and Miss Callie White, of Christian county, Ky., were married at the Arlington Thursday morning by Dr. Sears. They were accompanied by Mr. J. L. Payne and Miss Mollie Brasher, who were to be married also, but Miss Brasher changed her mind after arriving at the hotel. It was a runaway match.—Clarksville Democrat.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Bettie Cayce, wife of G. Roy Cayce, Esq., died at her home a few miles south of the city on the 12th inst., after a long and painful illness. She was about 35 years of age and leaves seven children.

A Famous Dish of Long Ago.

Another dish which was noted in the old time went down at the same period. This was the peacock. It was served in two ways. The bird was skinned, the body roasted, and the skin placed on it again before it was sent to the table, or it was made into a pie with the neck and head and the tail fastened to the trunk. In any event a rich gravy was served with it, and it will sound strange to modern cooks to learn that mutton stock was always used. Some of the old recipes order three sheep bruised and made into gravy for one peacock. When served it was carried to the table by the most distinguished lady in the company, and it was her place to carve it. The knights present were accustomed to take fantastic oaths "on the peacock." When Eleanor, the Queen of Edward III., brought in the peacock, the King swore on the bird that he would take Calais and put its citizens to the sword. It was that same Eleanor that begged the lives of the burgesses from her angry husband.—Current Literature.

That the liquor business is not proving as profitable as the saloon men hoped. Many of the bibulous inclined still prefer the cheaper and more convenient jug system of prohibition times, and have not given the bar-rooms their patronage so far.
